

CHCP Director's Profile

Lane Lee was born and raised in Phoenix, Arizona. He graduated from Arizona State University in 1964 with a BSE, and moved to California in 1968. That same year Lane met his wife, Pauline and they married in 1969. Together they have raised three children- Derek, Trisha, and Kristin.

Lane worked for Hewlett Packard/Agilent Technologies for 30 years, retiring in 2001. He worked in field sales management his entire career. Lane's current hobbies include golf, travel, and spoiling their 2 year old granddaughter, Maddy Grace.

Lane joined the CHCP Directors in 2007 and has shared his experiences and knowledge with our organization. Between his retirement activities, he serves as Vice President in 2008.

Advisory Board Member Becomes CHCP Director

Sandy Shih Andrada currently works in Community Affairs at the California Transplant Donor Network, a non-profit community health organization that procures organs for transplantation. She currently lives in Almaden and is a wife and mother of two: Ethan (3) and Erin (1).

Sandy became involved in CHCP in 2002 because she remembered attending and enjoying the Summer Festival as a high school student and wanted to become involved in planning the festival. She then served on the CHCP board as well as on the Public Relations committee.

Most recently she served on the CHCP Advisory Board and in 2008 has rejoined the Board of Directors. Sandy has also been a long-time board member of the American Society of Multicultural Health and Transplant Professionals.
